ALLTRAX NZ is a Nelson-based race, rally and classic car fabricator, established in 1997, providing automotive excellence from the concours winning classic cars to top of the podium for your race and rally vehicle.

Based just out of Nelson, the ALLTRAX NZ workshop is a place where magic happens. Operated by Garry Grant and his wife Brenda, ALLTRAX specializes in the customisation and fabrication of both Classic Cars and Performance Rally Cars. With 25 years experience at National-level rallying and a reputation for overt car enthusiasm, the founding of ALLTRAX in 1997 was a natural step for a man for whom cars are everything. "It drive's me crazy", says Brenda, "He's such a perfectionist – but then that's what our customers are looking for I guess." In 13 years this attention to detail has produced both concours winning classic cars and top of the podium race and rally vehicles; including work for nationally recognized collectors, Classic Car museums and celebrated on-display vehicles. While originally focused on rally car restoration, design, build and preparation, Garry's growing reputation for quality soon led to ALLTRAX being approached by classic car owners also seeking top of the line work and absolute commitment. Nowadays ALLTRAX have clients throughout the country and arranging secure vehicle shipping has become a regular management duty for Brenda. This dual passion for both motor sport and heritage vehicles means that the Grant household is pretty much car obsessed. Both parents actively compete in motorsport, the kids get as excited about events as anyone, and whether he's right in the rally action or preparing the final touches for a classic car display, Garry Grant is always focused on the detail, the challenge and the beauty of the end result. Taking the time to talk with owners is also something that Garry and Brenda believe has made ALLTRAX stand out. With a vast knowledge of vehicle restoration and enhancement, the pair say that actually talking and listening to collectable classic car owners and race, rally car and muscle car owners alike is always the most important thing. "Whether it's a classic car or a rally car, you've got to keep the communication up right through the job" As a team, Garry and Brenda work equally as well in business as in motorsport. While Garry mans the workshop, Brenda has built alltrax.co.nz into a high traffic hub with its regularly updated gallery, blog and projects sections. With clients and fellow car enthusiasts around the country, the ALLTRAX site is clearly designed to appeal to visitors who are equally as car obsessed and just as passionate as they are. ☺
